

Chris Burtin (°1980) is a Belgian physiotherapist who obtained a PhD in pulmonary rehabilitation at Katholieke Universiteit Leuven (B) in 2012, under supervision of Thierry Troosters and Rik Gosselink. He performed a post-doc at Universiteit Hasselt (B) under mentorship of Martijn Spruit. Since 2019, he is working as an assistant-professor at the same institution. His research interests include physical activity and exercise in COPD, lung cancer and recently COVID-19. He is the chair of the Respiratory Physiotherapy Group with the Belgian Respiratory Society.